DEDICATION

To J. I. Holcomb, in recognition of his efforts to beautify
the campus of Butler University, this year's DRIFT is dedicated.

THE DRIFT
1953

BUTLER UNIVERSITY
INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA

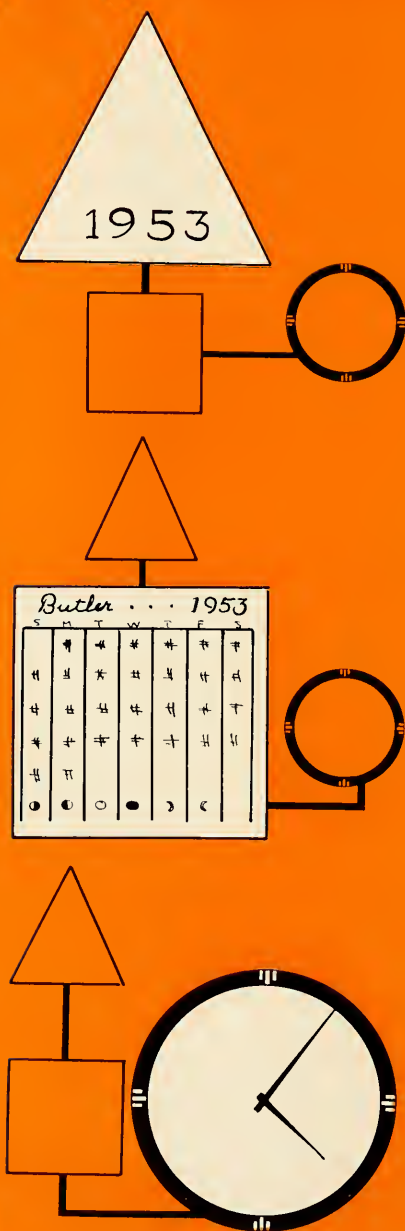

... spin a tale of seasons, clocks, and progress at Butler University, 1953. There will be some talk of the desperate minutes before a three-hour final, the usual small talk about weather and seasons; and a lot of proud talk about progress. We wish we could stop that clock and talk of many other things, but the hands will not be halted, nor will the steady procession of DRIFTS and the story of progress they tell.

UP

The imposing structure on the left housed the first students to attend Butler University. Completed in 1855, it opened its doors in November of that year as North Western Christian University.

In 1875 students and faculty abandoned the College Avenue location for modern accommodations in Irvington. Contemporary records noted down the reluctance with which students once again moved to a more spacious site, this time to Fairview Park in the northern residential section of Indianapolis.

THROUGH THE YEARS

The new building, Arthur Jordan Memorial Hall, was ready for occupancy in 1928, and the Fieldhouse was completed in the fall of that year. An appraisal of page seven affords a graphic picture of the tremendous growth which Butler has undergone since that time.

The Union and Pharmacy buildings both represent a current high-water mark in our ever-expanding facilities. Atherton Center opened its doors in 1950, and the Pharmacy building, our most recent structure, was ready for occupancy in 1951.

Fairview's campus will be the site of another building project next spring. Construction crews, a familiar sight on campus for the last few years, are slated to begin erecting a new dormitory to house Air ROTC and other men students.

UNDER THE CLOCK

These pictures of student life under the big clock in Jordan Hall contrast sharply to the historical sketch on the preceding pages. But a hurried look at The Collegian before class and the proverbial “jam in jelly hall” are all a part of 1953 Butler history. These pictures of contemporary Butler history may be relics of the past fifty years from now.

Nothing comes more directly under the influence of the big clock than pre-election frenzy, a very significant element in contemporary history.

Inside Atherton Center

Most important laboratory dedicated to the study of "campusology" is the C-club, only one of the many recreational facilities contained in Atherton Center. Release from academic pressure can also be found in the cafeteria, the billiard and table tennis rooms, the drugstore, or the extra-curricular offices on the third floor.

The bookstore, operated as a separate department for the first time this year, has now become an indispensable part of every student's academic life.

These scenes, like those under the big clock in Jordan Hall, reflect history in the making at Butler University, 1953.

The quiet and refreshing atmosphere of the cafeteria means a respite from duty for students and faculty alike.

JORDAN COLLEGE OF MUSIC

Concluding its second year as a full-fledged college of Butler University is the Jordan College of Music, located at 1116-1204 North Delaware street. Jordan merged with Butler in 1951 as its sixth college.

The Jordan College of Music of Butler University is an outstanding pivotal point of community culture which offers courses in music, radio, drama, and dance.

As complementary to their scholastic program, Jordan presents all-school dance and musical productions in addition to individual recitals. Some of these features are pictured on the following pages.

UP THROUGH THE YEARS

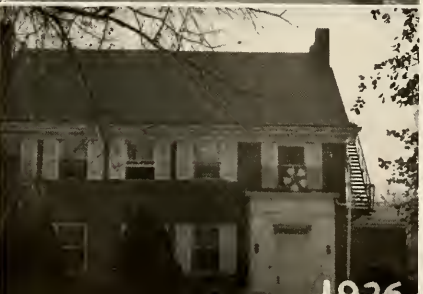

An affiliated college of Butler University is the John Herron Art School, located at 16th and Pennsylvania. The facilities of the Art School and of the Art Institute Museum are available to students of Butler by special arrangement with the Director of the Art School and with the Curator of the Museum.

Herron and Butler co-operate in a program for the preparation of art teachers and supervisors, offering courses in studio and applied art.

Up Through the Years With the Greeks

The growth of Butler University over the past ninety-four years has witnessed a similar expansion of Greek letter organizations. Throughout the nation, these organizations have made a signal contribution to the status of modern university life, and Fairview's history offers no exception.

Placing an emphasis on scholarship as well as extra-curricular and social activity, the Greek letter organization delivers an impetus to individual achievement.

Starting with the inception of Phi Delta Theta in 1859 and Kappa Alpha Theta in 1874, Greek organizations at Butler have grown to number seven sororities and nine fraternities.

The latest innovation in Butler's Greek world is Tau Kappa Epsilon which received its charter in October, 1951. The Phi Kappa's (large picture) are now completing their third year at Butler as a colony and are expecting to receive their charter soon.

For the sororities: Kappa Alpha Theta, 1874; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 1878; Pi Beta Phi, 1897; Delta Delta Delta, 1914; Zeta Tau Alpha, 1920; Delta Gamma, 1925; and Alpha Chi, 1925.

Many of these organizations pictured have acquired new houses during the school year 1952-1953. Wherever possible The Drift has pictured them on following pages.

BISA, the Butler Independent Student's Association, and Trianon joined with these Greek organizations in promoting, through competition, many worthy campaigns which took place in 1953. Among these were the blood drive, sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta and the Cheer Drive, which was won this year by Phi Delta Theta.

Fraternity presidents of these campus organizations try to achieve harmony through the Interfraternity Council, under the supervision of L. Gray Burdin, Dean of Men. Unity and co-operation among sororities is promoted through the Panhellenic Council.

Through their work in the Student Council, Greek letter organizations strive for more representative student affairs and co-operation among students, faculty, and administration.

GREEK ACTIVITIES

Once more we make the transition from past to present, from ancient to contemporary history, with these candid scenes appropriate only in 1953. The scope of Greek activities are broad and sometimes peculiarly undefinable.

They include a potpurri of the scholastic, the extra-curricular, the social, and (only on rare occasions) the nonsensical.

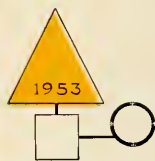

● The phone calls, the housework, card games, study, hasty preparations for a last-minute date, homecomings, exchange dinners, study-breaks in front of a piano, and the indispensable bulletin board all play their part in Greek activities.

BOTANICAL GARDENS

The James Irving Holcomb Botanical Gardens are symbolic of a long-range plan of building and beautification that its slowly changing the face of Butler's campus. With its central theme of modernity and grace, the gardens are as much a part of community relaxation as the college itself is a part of community culture.

Its grace derives from the statue of Persephone, goddess of growth and vegetation, and its modernity is reflected by the Garden House. The canal completes a picture of beauty that is both architectural and scenic.

A lake (pictured on page 23), newly-created this year, is a further enhancement of the Garden's beauty. A glance at the architectural drawing (upper left) shows how closely the present gardens conform to their original plan.

A Dormitory is Planned and

No discussion under the title "Up Through the Years" would be complete without some mention of the future. With such factors as war and inflation remaining constant, Butler's future was as bright as ever in 1953. Definite plans have been made regarding a new AROTC dormitory, and this year Butler became the site of a new lake located midway between the Fieldhouse and the campus.

DOWN THROUGH THE SEASONS

The evolution of seasons is incomparably more effortless than the evolution from North Western Christian University to Butler or the evolution from freshman to senior, but it, too, is an element of time and progression without which the picture of Butler, 1953, would be incomplete.

Autumn, as the Drift will eventually show, means registration, the opening of classes, and football. Winter, by the same token, is a season of term papers and finals; spring means Geneva Stunts and graduation.

- AUTUMN

- WINTER

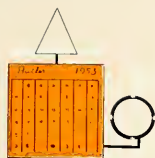

- SPRING

DOWN THROUGH THE SEASONS

From summer, through winter, and into spring is a swift motion as seasons go, but since it can mean the difference between a junior and a senior or the span between “finals” and graduation, it was a very significant transition as far as the Butler student in 1953 was concerned.

The retrospect of years may evoke for us a picture of the past, and the dependable progression of seasons carry with it a hint of the future, but the present can be pictured only in terms of a clock.

Thus "Around the Clock" is the ultimate picture to be presented in introducing Butler, 1953. There's the clock that points to ten minutes before eight and means a hurried dash to the first class and the clock that spells out coffee-break. For some, ten o'clock may mean study and research in the library; for others, a stroll through the drugstore and to a rendezvous in the campus club.

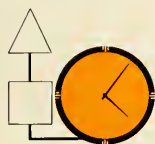

Twelve o'clock spelled out lunch time, whether at home, in the cafeteria, or in a sorority house. Two o'clock meant more classes and more study, and eight in the evening pointed to exchange dinners, homecoming celebrations, and pin serenades.

AROUND THE CLOCK

But we were not automatons, moving through the rut of routine under the tyranny of a clock. Every hour signified a new challenge to think or to relax.

And each challenge drove home its lesson. The challenge of eight o'clock on a rainy Monday morning brought with it self-discipline, the virtue of which was amply rewarded when the clock pointed to two o'clock on a warm Saturday afternoon.

Some of us will remember 1953 as a year when the challenges never ran out and the clock never ran down.

In picturing chronologically the action at Butler, 1953, the yearbook staff would like to acknowledge the obvious assistance rendered by Keith Bratton's caricatures. We have adapted the story which these murals have to tell in the narrative of Butler, 1952-53.

WHEN IT ALL STARTED . . .

In 1952 we learned that September was both a significant and an eventful month.
It signified arrival
and beginning,
and its crowded events
included registration,
freshmen mixer, rush,
and the opening
of football season.
A flurry
of the traditional open houses brought this significant and eventful month to a close.

FRESHMAN CAMP

The purpose of this co-educational camp was to familiarize new students with Butler University. Approximately sixty freshmen and forty upper-classmen attended the annual YMCA and YWCA sponsored camp held this year at McCormick's Creek August 29, 30, and 31. Dr. DeForest O'Dell (pictured above), Alumni Secretary, showed movies of the campus.

Oval picture: Ross Copeland, Dick Stanfield, Voldemar Pihlak, national representative, and Maureen Pleak roast wieners over an open fire. Copeland and Pleak were co-chairmen of the affair.

TYPICAL FRESHMEN AND RUSH:

Scott Chandler and Maggie Davis were named typical freshmen boy and girl of the year at the annual YM-YW Freshmen Mixer. Skip Booher and Char Green were co-chairmen of the dance.

1952 was the second year in succession that a Sigma Chi pledge gained the title. Last year Frank Abbott and Bev Siegal, Pi Phi, were the first crowned couple of the year. Maggie Davis, this year's typical freshmen girl, is a Kappa pledge.

(Below) Women's Rush loosed legions of be-ribboned, excited and confused freshmen coeds on the Butler campus in September.

REGISTRATION

Of all the events falling in September, registration is at once the most significant and colorful. The seemingly endless lines, the pile of cards, and the chaos that ended as suddenly as it began gradually were all a part of this memorable Pandemonium.

Posing for you I. D. picture was an anti-climatic process that mirrored fatigue and relief, and you couldn't help but feel that a semester of school would be a relief, too, by comparison.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

September also meant the beginning of intramural sports. This increasingly popular program included competition in basketball, football, track, swimming, volleyball, baseball, and billiards.

This year's action began with football, dominated by the Sigma Nu's who copped first spot in the league by downing the Phi Delt's in a decisive game, 12-2. Final standings for the league put Sigma Nu into first place, followed by Lambda Chi in second, and Phi Delta Theta in third.

(Below) The championship Sigma Nu team assumes the menacing pose that brought them to a number one niche in intramural football in 1952.

The Football Season Begins Against Evansville

A high scoring Bulldog offense which accounted for 231 points and an average of better than four touchdowns per game started the 1952 season by downing Evansville 25-20. Trailing 20-19 with less than a minute to play, the Bulldogs clicked on a 69-yard scoring play to win the ball game. Fred Davis threw the touchdown pass to Don Kelly who scampered across the goal line for the second time in the evening.

By the end of the season, the Bulldogs had won five, lost three, and tied one; but at the time the Pocket City game was considered by some to be an upset for Coach Paul D. Hinkle's inexperienced team. Norm Ellenberger and Johnny Riddle scored the Bulldogs' other touchdowns.

PRE-GAME PEP SESSIONS

A good football season is suggestive of many things other than the actual playing of a game. It means pep sessions, bonfires, parades, cheer leaders, and noise. The 1952 season, being a good one, had all these.

BUTLER 47, NORTH CENTRAL 6

The Bulldogs scored in every quarter to bury a new opponent, North Central, under a 47-6 score. Norm Ellenberger, the junior fullback punter from New Haven, Indiana, who was to be named most valuable player for the season, started the romp by running 53 yards on the first Butler play from scrimmage.

Ellenberger later added another touchdown, and Don Kelly, Frank Meier, Clarence Ewald, Jeff Brown, and Scott Chandler also got into the scoring act. Bill Hughett converted after five of the seven touchdowns.

OPEN HOUSES

A flurry of open houses, an institution that has both tradition and utility behind it, also contributed to making September 1952 a memorable month.

Innovated in the dim past and designed to introduce the new pledge classes to present students and faculty, the open house enjoyed its usual place of importance in the early fall activities at Butler, 1952.

EXCHANGE DINNERS

No picture of fall activity at Butler would be complete without introducing another venerable institution which played its part in making September 1952
a typical one.

The last word in Greek high society is the exchange dinner,
a delightful reprieve from the work-a-day frenzy of going to college.

IN THE GALLERY OF MEMORIES . . .

October, of course,
meant one thing to us
in 1952: HOMECOMING.
And Homecoming, in turn,
meant a myriad of other things,
like parades, house decorations,
pole fights, bonfires, queens,
and football games.

collegiates alike,

wends its way down Meridian,
fronted by the Butler marching band.
The winning Sigma Nu float is pictured in the foreground.

LAMBDA CHI'S WIN HOUSE DECORATIONS

To the tune of "Sickle More Sycamores," the Lambda Chi's marched to a first place in house decorations with the creation pictured above. The contest was sponsored by Scarlet Quill and Blue Key.

FROSH WIN TUG O' WAR

An undaunted freshmen crew (pictured above) humbled the sophomores in the tradition-steeped tug o' war between the coeds of those two classes. Spectacles like these make Homecoming festivities long-awaited and long-remembered for students, faculty, and alumni. The 1952 Homecoming was considerably enhanced by the weather which co-operated in making it the highpoint of October. This feature was sponsored by Chimes.

BUT LOSE THE GREASED POLE SKIRMISH

The pole fight is as essential to a successful Homecoming
as Homecoming itself is to a successful October.
The fifteen hundred fans
who witnessed the annual greased pole fight, a tradition of old and bloody vintage, saw the freshmen go down to defeat
after three fruitless attempts to dislodge the beanie
suspended fifteen feet in the air.
This was sponsored by Sphinx.

THE BONFIRE

Photographers and students thronged to the bonfire, an indispensable preliminary to the all-important Homecoming football game. The bonfire was followed by an informal dance in the Campus Club, which climaxed a day of pole fights, tugs o' war, and parades.

A war dance around the bonfire
breaks up as students disperse.

BUTLER 13, INDIANA STATE 13

Obviously over-confident after reading that Indiana State had lost to Ball State, 33-0, the previous Saturday, the Bulldogs had their hands full with the underrated Sycamores. Fred Davis passed to Charley Johnson late in the fourth quarter to pull Butler to within a point of State, and then Johnson toed the ball through the uprights to tie the score. John Riddle scored from 16 yards out for the first BU touchdown.

The Bulldogs dropped a heartbreaker to the Wabash Cavemen, 27-25, three weeks earlier and followed this up by wins over Ball State, 28-6, and St. Joseph, 33-0.

The Indiana State game brought Butler's conference mark to three wins and one tie.

A week later, the Bulldogs lost to Valparaiso, 14-13, which made their final conference standing 3-1-1, identical to the standing of Valparaiso which inflicted the Bulldogs' only conference defeat.

CAMPUS CLUB CORONATION

Immediately after the announcement of her victory, the glamorous Miss Cooksey became subject to a spontaneous demonstration of approval. Here she is feted . . . Campus Club style.

THE FINALE: TWO QUEENS ARE ELECTED

Students and alumni put the lid on another year of Homecoming activities
by dancing to the music of Harry McCrady's orchestra in the Egyptian Room of the Murat Temple.
Highlight of the annual affair,
sponsored by Scarlet Quill and Blue Key,
was the presentation of the Homecoming Queen for 1952.
Jane Cooksey (above right) and the alumna queen mother,
Mrs. Reece (Kathy Hart Zay), class of '47.
Mrs. Patterson is being escorted by Don Shaw.

FALL AND FOOTBALL DRAW TO A CLOSE

Christmas vacation was staying at an obstinate distance and "finals" loomed dangerously close behind,
but we were too absorbed with Panhel, class elections,
and football to notice the imminency of either.
Still we were aware that fall,
with its registration and Homecoming,
was drawing to a hasty but eventful close.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE

Janie Knoebel, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Ray Stewart, Sigma Chi, gathered honors at the annual Women's Recreational Association square dance in the Fieldhouse. Miss Knoebel carried off the witch title, while Stewart got the nod as scarecrow.

CLASS ELECTIONS

The nation was in a transport of election-year frenzy in November of 1952, and Butler was right in tune, caucuses and all. November 19 reflected the national political scene in miniature as students elected the officers who would preside over their respective classes for the remainder of the year. Senior officers elected were Doug Hatton, president; Bob Lincks, vice-president; Shirley Stillwell, secretary; and Paul Ross, Jr., treasurer.

Junior officers elected were Skip Booher, president; Frank Tardy, vice-president; Janet Brucker, secretary; Jim Hogshire, treasurer; and Bob Given, prom chairman. Sophomores were Richard Garret, president; John Shreve, vice-president; Mary Jo Ober, secretary; Tom McCarthy, treasurer. Freshman officers included Roland Becker, president; Dan Englehart, vice-president; Carol Manwaring, secretary; and Sherman Reeves, treasurer.

Jordan activities for the fall included Marjorie Lawrence, internationally acclaimed dramatic soprano, who launched Butler's Jordan College of Music Orchestra Series in November.

(Below) Joseph Victor Laderoute, Canadian-American tenor and head of the Jordan Voice Department presented a recital in October. Mr. Laderoute appeared with the Jordan Symphony in April.

PANHELLENIC DANCE

Dating rules were foresaken at the annual Panhellenic dance, sponsored by the Panhellenic Council.

The gals squired their men to this traditional favorite where Bill Dudley was elected Panhel king.

Skip Elder's corsage designed by Carolyn Auble, won him a ticket to the Junior Prom.

Pictured above are (left to right) Valera Hume, publicity chairman, Betty Lou Gunter, Bill Dudley, Skip Elder and Carolyn Auble.

Judges are presented with a knotty proposition in selecting the winning corsage. Creations, as usual, ran the gamut from the beautiful to the bizarre and the decorative to the zany.

The indispensable dance atmosphere was conjured at the Indiana Roof by Earl Newport and his band. Attention was usually divided between your date and the stars that blinked from the roof.

Valparaiso 14, Butler 13

Butler had to settle for a share of the ICC title when they lost to a tough Valparaiso team, 14-13. John Riddle scored both touchdowns for the Bulldogs, one on an 87-yard pass play with Fred Davis the thrower. Riddle caught the ball on his 30, and weaved 70 yards for the score, a block by Gene Mangin on the Valpo safety man springing Riddle into the open.

The other touchdown came on a delayed hand-off to Riddle by Davis, a modification of the statue of liberty play. Riddle covered the 29 yards to pay dirt.

Butler 33, Washington 20

Playing their best game of the season, Butler powered over three last quarter touchdowns to beat a good Washington team, 33-20. The two teams played to a 13-13 halftime tie. Washington drove 63 yards in the third quarter to take the lead.

Don Campbell caught a touchdown pass (his second of the game), and Don Kelly ran for two scores in the last quarter to salt the game away. Kelly played more offense in this game than in any other game since early in the season, and his running was the difference between the two teams in the game. Kelly was forced to the defense early in the season when Joe Adams received a broken nose and was unable to back up the line on defense.

Western Reserve 42, Butler 14

Western Reserve scored four times in the second half to turn a close game into a rout, and send the Bulldogs down to their worst defeat of the 1952 season.

Norm Ellenberger scored just before the end of the half to pull the Bulldogs up to the short end of a 7-14 halftime score, but after the second half started everything went wrong from Butler's standpoint, and the final score became, 42-14. George Freyn scored his first touchdown of the season, and Butler's last when he grabbed a Fred Davis aerial late in the fourth quarter.

Four Touchdowns Per Game Lead Bulldogs to Winning Season

A high scoring Bulldog offense which accounted for 231 points, an average of better than four touchdowns per game, led the 1952 Butler football team to a winning season. They won five, lost three, and tied one.

Due to a mid-season slump the football squad was able to gain just a share of the Indiana Collegiate Conference championship. Butler won three conference games in a row before tying Indiana State and losing to Valparaiso.

This placed Butler's final conference mark at 3-1-1, identical to the standing of Valparaiso, which inflicted the Bulldogs' only conference reversal.

Indiana State led Butler throughout most of the ball game until the Bulldogs scored and converted in the final minute to gain a 13-13 tie with the Sycamores before a large Homecoming crowd.

Butler's three conference wins were posted over Evansville, 25-20; Ball State, 28-6; and St. Joseph, 33-0.

Prospects for the 1953 season look bright since only three seniors were on the 1952 squad. The three, who were presented trophies at the Blue Key banquet at the end of the season, are Don Campbell, Charles Johnson, and Wayne Walls.

Norman Ellenberger, junior fullback and punter from New Haven, Indiana, was named most valuable player for the season by a vote of local newspapers and radio stations.

John Riddle, right halfback, and Ralph London, tackle, were named to the all conference team on the offensive platoon. Bill Norkus, guard; Fred Davis, quarterback; Don Kelly, halfback; and Norm Ellenberger, fullback, were selected on the defensive platoon.

DECEMBER WAS SHORT BUT CROWDED . . .

As the first semester closed down around us,
we found December to be a short month,
but one crowded with events.

December was a month of last-minute campaigns,
like the Collegian Cheer Drive and the Blood Drive.
Relaxation from the competitive fury of these drives was afforded by the student players' production of Androcles and the Lion and Riders to the Sea.

December also meant the beginning of basketball season, an event that was to absorb so much of our time and interest in the coming semester.

Two Furious Campaigns are Waged

The annual Collegian Cheer Drive, a campaign to provide clothing for the needy at Christmas time, was won this year by the Phi Delt's. Pictured above is Beverly Siegal whose whole-hearted support is being appreciated by Tom McCarthy, Sigma Nu, Chairman of the Drive. (At left) Refreshments are being served after students contributed to the blood drive, sponsored this year by Kappa Alpha Theta. Co-chairmen of this highly successful drive were Rolene Woodward and Pat Martin.

The Student Players Meant Relaxation

Theater-in-the-Round productions were presented of "Androcles and the Lion" and "Riders to the Sea."

The two plays represented the joint effort of Jordan's Department of Drama, Butler University's Department of Speech and Drama, and the Butler Student Players.

Cast in the leads of the Shaw comedy were Bill McNallen, as Androcles, and Norm Bess as the lion. Charlotte Green portrayed Maurya in "Riders to the Sea."

OFF TO A FAST START—THEN FINALS . . .

Socially, January was one of our shortest months, but academically it was our most significant and memorable.

The Delts acquired a beautiful and spacious new home,

Kappa Kappa Gamma celebrated an anniversary, and two Jordan students received national recognition.

In basketball it was a month of conquest.

We remember all this now,

but at the time it was rather eclipsed

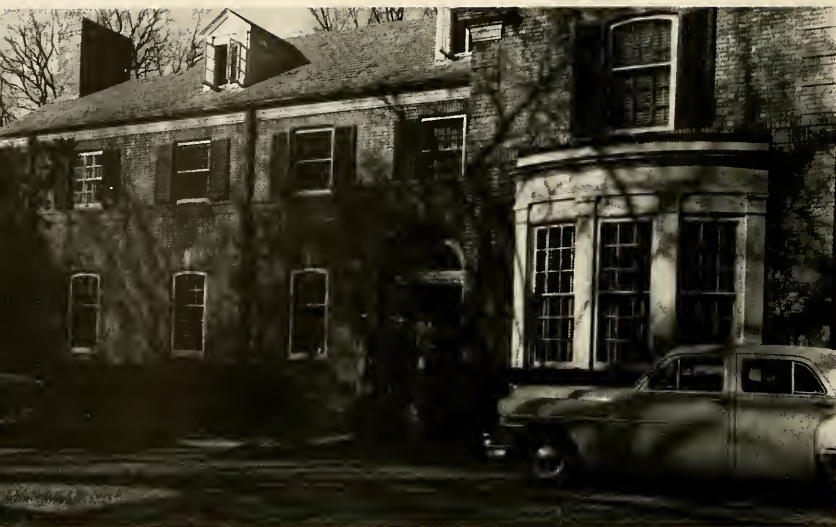

by the phantom cloud of "finals."

DELT'S HAVE A NEW HOUSE

As evidence that all facets of Butler University have been equally subject to growth, Delta Tau Delta abandoned their former residence on 46th street to occupy the new quarters (pictured above) a few blocks southwest of the campus.

KAPPAS CELEBRATE

Jordan Students Win Recognition

Jordan College of Music of Butler University was justifiably proud when national recognition was accorded them in 1953. Miss Charlotte Schwartz, a student at Jordan College (above left) garnered honors for the whole of Butler University when she placed first in the Indianapolis Symphony audition for pianists. Another nationally acclaimed recipient was Miss Carol Boyer (above right) who won the Indianapolis Symphony vocal audition.

Miss Schwartz and Miss Boyer are pictured with Fabien Sevitzky, conductor of the Indianapolis Symphony.

Basketball for January

The Bulldogs opened play in the ICC conference the same way they closed the '51-'52 campaign—winning. Evansville was the victim in the Pocket City, 74-61.

Playing one of its best games of the season, Butler exploded for 58 points in the second half, burying DePauw under a 93-68 avalanche; the Bulldogs then won their fourth straight game by turning in a workmanlike 65-53 win over Wabash in Crawfordsville.

Taking a long step toward the ICC title by outlasting the Sycamores, 78-64, Butler experienced that inevitable "off night" when the Pumas' came from 11 points behind at half-time to lace the Bulldogs by 15, 72-57.

Then came the second win of the season over Wabash, 87-58.

Hardworking Don Holloway experienced the best night of his varsity career by leading his teammates to a tight 74-70 conference win over Evansville.

A LITTLE MONTH—A BIG SCHEDULE . . .

February was a month of manifold potentialities:

Valentine's Day, first full month of the second semester,

Drift Beauty Queen Contest,

the close of basketball season,

the Theta Sig Banquet, and Freshman Rose Dance.

The Sigma Nu's further evidenced the progress of Butler housing facilities

by acquiring a spacious new home.

Drift Beauty Contest

Five Drift Beauties were chosen on the night of February 6 from a field of twenty-five of Butler's loveliest coeds. For the first time the Drift sponsored a dance after the presentation of awards to the winners. Bud Helms and his Commanders played for the contest and dancing in the cafeteria.

Bea Douglass was selected as Queen of Queens by judges Jeanne Reed, fashion coordinator for the Wm. H. Block Co.; David Milligan, director of WFBM-TV public relations; and Col. Ben K. Armstrong, head of Butler's Air Force ROTC. Bob Morrison, popular disc jockey from WIRE, acted as the master of ceremonies.

New Sigma Nu House

Only a few months after the Delt purchase of a new residence and just a little over a year since the Sigma Chi construction, Sigma Nu acquired a comparable mansion, which further indicated that Butler's housing facilities were moving upward and outward. The estate pictured at right is contiguous to the new Delt house.

Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism honorary, honored outstanding Butler coeds at their annual Matrix Table banquet and program held February 11 in Atherton Center.

Theta Sigma Phi Banquet

Mrs. Betty Hinckle Dunn, national president of Theta Sig, was the featured speaker.

Freshman Rose Queen

Eileen Reis

After a precarious start, the Freshman Rose Dance was successfully held at the Lincoln Hotel, Travertine Room. Because of slow ticket sales, and warnings from the Dean's office, it was feared the dance would be called off. The freshies gave the extra push that meant success by contributing one dollar a piece until the dance expenses were underwritten.

A large crowd saw Ronnie Becker, dance chairman, present the crown and trophy to Eileen Reis, candidate from Alpha Chi Omega.

Basketball Games for February

Butler took revenge for the Indiana and Notre Dame reversals on Ball State, clipping the Cardinals, 82-52. Keith Greve snapped out of his two game slump by tallying 21. Jim Crosley held high-scoring Cardinal guard, Jack Cross to one point and threw in 13 of his own. Butler canned 30 of 73 field shots for a percentage of .411.

The Sycamores inflicted Butler's second ICC reversal by protecting a one-point lead the last minute and a half of the game. Dick Atha scored four free throws in the last 90 seconds when Butler fouled trying to gain possession of the ball.

Butler evened the score with St. Joseph for a defeat earlier in the season at Rensselaer by clobbering the Pumas, 85-64. For the second straight home game the Bulldogs hit better than 40% from the field.

For the second time of the season, Butler took DePauw into camp, winning 75-67. The Tigers made more of a game out of it this time than in the earlier encounter when Butler established a new record for points scored in one game.

Butler made it nine victories out of 10 starts on its home floor by breezing past Valparaiso, 75-53, on the strength of .411 accuracy; and completed the season by losing to Ball State, 77-54.

Best Season Since '48 for '53 Bulldogs

Butler played its best season since the 1948-49 campaign by winning 14 of 23 games during the 1952-53 season. The Bulldogs' schedule included seven games with Big Ten teams, and home games with the other five members of the Indiana Collegiate Conference, Notre Dame, Wabash, and DePauw.

Keith Greve, sophomore forward from Waveland, Indiana, took a long step toward establishing himself as the scoringest player in Butler history by totaling 394 points for the season. Jim Crosley, Don Holloway, and Ray Stewart were other solid members of the first five. Harry Porter, Bob Reed, and Norn Ellenberger shared duty at the fifth starting position.

Mike Radkovic, the team's only senior, and Stewart, who plans to enroll in med-school at Indiana next fall, are the only two men who will not return for the 1953-54 season.

The Bulldogs won seven of 10 ICC games, good enough to tie them with St. Joseph for the conference championship. Butler won three of the seven encounters with Big Ten competition. Victories were over Purdue, Ohio State, and Michigan.

PI PHI'S WIN CONTEST

Successful contestant for the Drift title of "Typical Social Organization on Campus" was Pi Beta Phi. The Pi Phi's won this recognition by achieving one hundred percent representation in Drift sales.

JUNIOR PROM

The annual Junior Prom was held at the Indiana Roof. Joan O'Neil, Kappa Kappa Gamma and her court reigned over the 1952 dance.

Prom Chairman, Sandy Rader, began the festivities leading up to the dance by declaring Ray Lines as the winner of the beard growing contest.

Ralph Martere's band provided the music for the Prom.

Breakfasts were held at the Fraternity and Sorority houses following the dance.

SOPHOMORE COTILLION

Elizabeth Young was elected Queen at the annual Sophomore Cotillion in 1952. Miss Young was the candidate from Trianon. Other leading candidates were Betty Rosenberry, Pi Beta Phi; Mary Reis, Alpha Chi Omega; Lois Bock, Delta Delta Delta; Nan Barney, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Marjorie Tarkington, Kappa Alpha Theta.

The dance was held in Atherton Center in March.

GENEVA STUNTS

Pictured at left are scenes from the 1952 production. The 1953 Drift could not adjust its deadline schedule to this year's presentation.

Ross Copeland and Cora Lane, co-chairmen for Geneva Stunts, presented trophies to major act winners Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Nu and to minor act winners Delta Delta Delta and Phi Delta Theta for the 1953 competition.

Abe Shankerman, chairman for the annual heart fund campaign, presented his own trophy to Delta Gamma as the sorority which made the greatest contribution to the fund.

Spring Sing

With Geneva Stunts, Spring Sing represents one of the most popular and closely contested activities among Butler social organizations.

In the spring of 1952, Sing competition saw Tau Kappa Epsilon and Kappa Kappa Gamma roost in first place. Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta were defending champions.

Holcomb and Brown Celebrate

The 1953 Drift would scarcely be complete without a picture of the personality to whom it is dedicated, James Irving Holcomb. Mr. Holcomb's projected dream of making the Butler University campus one of the most scenic in the midwest is rapidly being realized in the Botanical gardens (pictured on pages 20-21).

Nor would any Drift be complete without a picture of Butler's "Grand Old Man," Hilton U. Brown, advertised in The Collegian as being 94 years young in 1953.

SPRING SPORTS

Coach Calvin Walker's freshman-dominated squad was victorious in four meets last spring while taking the back seat in three meets. The "thinly-clads" lost both the ICC and Little State track crowns, placing second in the ICC and fourth in Little State.

The Blue-and-White runners set five new records in the ICC meet. Captain Frank Campbell accounted for two—a 22.3 second 220 and a 50.1 second quarter mile. Freshman John Owensby set two more—a 4:35.1 mile and a 10:12.2 two-mile. The fifth record was a 3:30.2 mile relay set by Glenn Meyer, Tom Wetzler, Russ Greenburg, and Frank Campbell.

Of the ten freshmen on the team, the three most outstanding were John Owensby, Gaton Allen, and Jodean Crist. The only one of the trio returning this year is Jodean Crist.

Jim Glass displays shot-putting form.

AFROTC

The 1952-53 school year brought with it several new innovations in the Butler AFROTC Unit led by PAS & T Col. Ben K. Armstrong. With the new and the old, the year was very successful for the cadets and their instructors.

Newest of the new were the Staff members assigned to Butler. They included Maj. Ryan, Capt. Sparkman, Lt. Mulkey, and Sgt. Norman. The new cadet staff was led by Cadet Col. Frank Little.

Cadets elected their new Air Angel shortly after the start of school, and she, Joyce Barnard and the rest of her court received honors at the first gathering of the entire AFROTC Unit of Butler. For the first time all of the Cadets were outfitted in the new Air Force Blue.

Captain Sparkman headed the formation of the Unit's Drum and Bugle Corp, which was making its first appearance on the BU campus. He also formulated plans for, and directed, the new Butler AFROTC Glee Club. Captain Sparkman piloted Mayor Clark's atomic bomb witnessing journey.

The inspection was highly successful for the Unit as the inspecting officers had nothing but praise for all phases of AFROTC on the campus.

Cadet Jerry Donahue was editor of the "WING," the units' publication which was formerly called "FLY-PAPER." Cadet Jack Lannagan assisted him in his publication work.

R E D C A B S

Hickory 5351

This "funny old car" that looks so antique beside today's sleek, powerful motor cars was once the finest thing on the road—"the ultimate in styling and engine design."

And the "gas" that was dispensed from the creaking hand pump in front of the grocery store (quite different from the modern super-fuels you get at today's super-service stations) was once "the finest at any price."

What changed them?

You don't have to look far for the answer. It's competition.

Every person and business in America is free to outdo the other fellow—to produce something better—so more people will buy it.

That's why this year's cars are sleeker and more powerful than last year's. That's why service stations (like ours) keep getting more modern and gleaming, offering finer and finer petroleum products.

Competition among tens of thousands of independent businesses in the petroleum industry makes such progress possible—and necessary.

As long as our economic system works that way, this will be a pretty wonderful and exciting country, won't it, in which to live and work and get ahead?

In 1871, the first public water supply in Indianapolis began operation. It was not until 1903, however, that the Indianapolis Water Company caught up with Butler. At that time, water mains were laid in Butler Avenue and University Avenue, adjacent to the Irvington campus. Today, a safe and adequate water supply surrounds Butler and from the campus can be seen the canal, another landmark for the homing student.
